THE WEDDING.

Banquet given at Hawaiian Hotel, at 7:30.

Hawaiian Lodge L.O.O.F. at 7:30.

AFTERMATH PROCEEDINGS.

The following is extracted from a private letter received here from South Australia by the last mail steamer, and helps to give an idea of the ceremony and material progress of the wedding.

"You may not be aware that there is a greater wealth of periodical publications in Australia than in any other part of the world, that is a fact—excepting Uncle Sam's. There is one advantage—papers have over the American—that is, they are not beset with advertising and rot. Our papers are never scurrilous or abusive of rivals. There are now in Adelaide four dailies, seven or eight weeklies, and innumerable monthlies. We have three very creditable illustrated journals, which are a sort of anything in that line in the other colonies. The different religious denominations also have their own journals—The Church Standard, Methodist Journal, Truth and Progress, Independent, Catholic Record, &c. Besides two or three society journals and numerous small sheets. We have a well-conducted Punch, too. These are established. There has been a host of satirical, political, and religious papers which have belched forth for a time and then become extinct.

"Oh, dear! we are not so antiquated now as you imagine. What with the spread of literature, frequent and rapid mail communication, &c., we are advancing. New South Wales and Victoria are all dash and go-ahead. Queensland, too, has crawled out of its shell. Tasmanians can blow and swear nearly as well as Americans. New Zealand has borrowed all the money she is worth. This colony divested herself of her outer outside about six years ago. And now we have 425 miles of railway in one run—from Adelaide to Paris on the overland telegraph line, 200 miles north of Port Augusta. A railway crosses Mount Lofty to Strathgilly. Another is going on to Melbourne, another to Wentworth, and another to the South. We have tapped the Murray River at Nor West Bend, via Kapunda, by a railway. We have just completed 1,000 feet of a Breakwater at Port Victor, and a thousand feet more is under consideration. Also a canal from Gooden to Port Victor is being discussed; all this to secure the Riverina trade against Melbourne and Sydney. In fact, our government is making improvements and pushing public works in every direction."

The Keonkapu and Kaluapihale Nuptials.

Friday night wedding was a brilliant and enjoyable affair. The parents of the bride and bridegroom, H. Keonkapu and Miss Kaluapihale, had invited a large number of their friends to be present at the ceremony and partake of a luau afterwards. The response to the invitation was heartily over 300 guests being present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Wallace, assisted by the Rev. W. Swan, and a soon as it was over the bride and bridegroom had to undergo that trying ordeal of receiving congratulations from the numerous friends who came forward to offer their good wishes and blessings on the happy event. A constant stream of friends passed in at one door and out at the other for over an hour. Then the music struck up and dancing commenced under the genial influence of Mr. C. Leas who acted as impromptu floor manager. At about 8:30 a move was made to the supper tables where an abundance of good things had been provided including the national dishes of poi and luau. The supper was held in an immense marquee handsomely decorated with ferns and flowers and brilliantly illuminated with tastefully arranged groups of lights.

The toast of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Col. A. Rosa in a neat speech, in which he wished on behalf of the guests' health, prosperity and long life to them. At the conclusion of the speech three hearty cheers were given. Other toasts and speeches followed at intervals.

After the supper an adjournment was made the wedding room where the father of the bride made a short speech in which he recounted how in 1874, he had determined to save money for his only daughter's wedding-day, and had placed the money in a box, which he produced, sealed up and not to be opened until the wedding-day. It was then broken open and found to be filled with silver and gold coin amounting (as far as we could learn) to hundreds of dollars.

Dancing was then resumed and kept up to the "wee sma' hours" about the twal. Numbers of distinguished guests were present, but it would be invidious to particularize and want of space forbids us giving the whole list.

Who is the gay young policeman who tried to make a mash at the Police Court Saturday morning, eh?

Who were the young men lying around loose on Emma Square the other night? Couldn't they find their way home?

Why did he slap the U. S. Minister Resident on the back the other night and say, "Dick, drive me home?" Was he too joyful?

We take this opportunity of thanking Mr. J. W. Robertson for his kindness in reserving a file of the latest papers for us.

Dodd's bus went over the bridge yesterday with 20 passengers on board,—but then it does that every day, you know.

EARLY Saturday morning the Royal Hawaiian Band, under Mr. Berger's leadership, serenaded Mr. James Dodd. This graceful compliment was tendered to him as a birthday honor.

At the alarm of fire on Friday night at half-past one, it was noticed that the bridegroom turned out to take his share of duty as a fireman, thus preferring duty to pleasure.

On Friday a party of sailors and marines from the Alaska went out on the plains to play a match at base ball. The sailors bore off all the honors, the marines not even securing one tally the whole day. About 7 o'clock the party returned full of joy and merriment.

The embezzlement case at the Police Court on Saturday against S. W. Lederer was dismissed, as the evidence admitted of doubts in favor of the prisoner. The magistrate remarked that Lederer's explanation was, at least, unbusiness like.

By the arrival of the Mlle. Morris we learn that the sehr Rob Roy with 100 bags of sugar from Molokai went ashore at Keawahua, Lanai, on Friday last. She had lost her false keel and had a hole in her near her foremast. The above information is given by kind permission of J. M. Oat, jr.

SATURDAY was taken by the water-works as a good opportunity to clean out the cistern on Merchant street, opposite J. W. Robertson & Co.'s, to find out a leak. Judging from the mud and slush from the bottom the complaints of the impurity of our water supply must be well founded.
